By road:

The Midland Railway Building is in Liverpool city centre, close to Queen Square.
There is a small pay and display car park on Victoria Street, behind the Midland Railway Building. There is also a multi-storey car park at Queen Square.

There is a coach drop off point at the side of the Midland Railway Building on Crosshall Street.

By train:

Lime Street Station

The Midland Railway Building is a short walk from Liverpool Lime Street station - Liverpool's mainline train station. Simply leave the concourse via the exit closest to the ticket office (this route is also suitable for those requiring level access). You come out on Lord Nelson Street, facing the side of the Empire Theatre. Turn left out onto Lime Street (St George's Hall is opposite). Go left along Lime Street until you reach the pedestrian crossing. Cross Lime Street to St George's Hall, then cross the road again on the left, heading towards the Royal Court Theatre. Walk past the theatre towards the Queen Square Travel Centre (a large circular building with a clock on top) then head to the right of this and walk carry on past the bus stops, passing several shops and Yates's on your left. The Midland Railway Building is in directly front of you, over the road (Whitechapel). There is a pedestrian crossing in front of the building and the entrance is at the side, on Peter Street.

The nearest local line train station is Lime Street lower level. This is only served by Wirral Line trains.

Liverpool Central station

Liverpool Central station is served by the same services as Moorfields. Leave the station by the main entrance, coming out onto Ranelagh Street. Cross at the pedestrian crossing and walk through Clayton Square shopping centre, then past St John's shopping centre on your right and Tesco Metro on your left to Williamson Square. Walk across the square to the taxi rank, then past this to Whitechapel. There is a pedestrian crossing on the right that crosses the road to the front of the Midland Railway Building and the entrance is at the side, on Peter Street.

By bus:

The Midland Railway Building is within walking distance of the bus stations at Queen Square and the Paradise Street Interchange.

From Queen Square

The Midland Railway Building is just across the road from Queen Square, opposite Yates's. There is a pedestrian crossing on Whitechapel in front of the building and the entrance is at the side, on Peter Street.

From Paradise Street

Leave the bus station by the eastern exit (the end furthest from the river and the Albert Dock) and walk away from the river, up Hanover Street until you get past John Lewis. Turn left here and walk all the way down Paradise Street, keep going across Church Street and past the Met Quarter on your left. Cross the road at the traffic lights and walk ahead a short distance, then turn left onto Peter Street. The entrance to the Midland Railway Building is about half way along on the right.

By coach:
